Gerri Davidson is a distinguished operations warrant at the British Columbia Regiment, where she facilitates training and career development within the unit. A veteran of Afghanistan, she distinguished herself during her 2008 tour—gaining the most engagements on her deployment—and served as a pioneering female tanker in 2006. Her military career is marked by competitive excellence; she has earned multiple podium finishes in Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu competitions like Ex Relentless Warrior and, in endurance events such as the Mountain Man race, secured 1st place in the masters category, 2nd overall for females, and helped lead her team to victory in 2023.

An avid ultramarathon runner since 2011, Gerri is currently training for a challenging 125-mile race in Sedona, Arizona. Her commitment to fitness and volunteerism was instilled early on while volunteering with her family at Ironman Canada in Penticton. Gerri also champions female empowerment in outdoor pursuits by organizing female ski lessons and serving as second in charge of her mountaineering team. One of her most rewarding experiences was mentoring 40 female soldiers in Jordan—a tour that earned her the CJOC accommodation. Through her multifaceted career and athletic achievements, Gerri Davidson exemplifies leadership, resilience, and a passion for empowering others both in the military and the broader community.
